PEACE NEWS CAUSES NO EXCITEMENT AT CAPITAL.

Calm of Senate, House and Other Branches of Government Unruffled Even by President's Message.

By Associated Press.
Washington, July 3.—Word of the consummation of peace was received by the national capital with scarcely a flutter of popular or official sentiment.

At the White House and the State Department the news aroused only a quiet feeling of satisfaction that the pre-arranged program for the signing at Versailles had gone through in Congress there was but a momentary demonstration, and on the streets the Saturday crowds gave no show of interest.

The story of the historic ceremony, flashed over a direct wire to the State Department, was given to the press in brief bulletins, keeping close step with the developments in the Hall of Mirrors. The account was brief, and was made public without comment by department officials.

Wilson's Appeal Made Public.
As soon as the signing was concluded, President Wilson's message to the American people announcing the long-awaited event and appealing for acceptance of the treaty without change or reservation, was made public at the White House, together with some details of the president's homecoming.

It was by the reading of this message Congress was informed that the Versailles negotiations were at an end. It was expected tonight that an official notification would await the arrival of Wilson, and would be delivered in person by him at a joint session of the Senate and House.

In the Senate Chamber to which the nation's interest in the outcome of the peace negotiations now is transferred, announcement of the signing was received in silence. Interrupting and appropriate debate, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, senior Democrat of the Foreign Relations Committee, read the president's message to an attentive audience comprising less than half the Senate's membership. Without any comment, he then relinquished the floor and the appropriations debate proceeded.

The House punctuated reading of the message with applause, and there was a short outburst of cheering when the president's name was read at the end. There was no discussion of it.

Privately, senators and representatives who have supported the League of Nations expressed the League of Nations message, while Chairman Lodge of the Foreign Relations Committee and other opponents of the league covenant had nothing to say.

Senator Borah (Rep.) of Idaho issued a statement on the subject however, in which he bitterly criticized the treaty provisions affecting Shantung.

While the White House was not fully advised regarding the president's plans, it was the expectation of officials that he would reach this country about July 7 and come almost immediately to Washington. It was revealed that he expected to land at New York, and it was thought entirely likely he would remain there a few hours to attend a meeting of Wilson's appearance before Congress probably will follow quickly his arrival in Washington, though it may be delayed a few days because of the plan of Senate leaders to take a series of short recesses after July 1.

The president's speaking tour for the League of Nations is expected to begin almost as soon as he has laid the treaty before Congress. Reservations Planned.
The imminence of the treaty's submission for ratification served to quicken today the efforts of Senate leaders opposing its acceptance without reservation. There was a thorough canvass of Senate sentiment for and against the treaty, and it was expected by opposition senators that the necessary majority could be mustered to incorporate reservation clauses in the ratification resolution.

It became known that some of the reservation exporters are counting on the support of Senator McCumber of North Dakota, and McNary of Oregon, the only Republican member who have announced their advocacy of the league covenant. Neither would give publicly and definite assurance, however, that he was in favor of the reservations urged by Elihu Root and others.

The president's supporters, on the other hand, reasserted their confidence of enough votes to defeat any specific reservation that might be proposed.

One result of the day's conferences was to dispel likelihood of action in the near future on the resolution of Senator Fall, Republican, of New Mexico, to declare a state of peace with Germany. The measure had been expected to come before a special meeting of the Foreign Relations Committee Monday, but no such meeting had been called to night. It is understood determined opposition has developed among some Republican committee members and the general prediction tonight was that resolution would be postponed.

The prospect of a Senate recess after appropriation bills are passed seemed likely to block also the plan of Senator Knox, Republican, of Pennsylvania, for action on his resolution expressing opposition to joint consideration of the peace terms and the league covenant.

THE TEXAS NEGRO BUSINESS LEAGUE POSTPONED.
Owing to high water having made roads impassable and railroad traveling uncertain, the Texas Negro Business League, which was to have been held at Coney, Texas, July 1st and 2nd, 1919, has been postponed until Sept. 1st and 2nd, 1919.

Dr. Bailey's Trip North in August.
I have been officially informed by our new Superintendent that he will tour the North in the month of August. I take this method to announce his coming to our Northern brethren.
